

BOARD TALKS ON BIDS, TAXES, CLASSES

The Jefferson Union High School Board of Trustees met on Monday night and formally rejected the Jefferson High School bids on construction. The bids were too high for the amount of money the State will allow for construction. So the board: 1) rejected them, and 2) reduced the cost by $150,000 by cutting down on some of the work to be done. The main item to go was a proposed retaining wall along the inside of the track that would have added an extra one-half acre to the track facilities. Other reductions came in relatively minor architectural, structural and plumbing improvements.

The new figure that any bids will have to meet is $995,800. The reductions were worked out by the architectural firm of Falk & Booth. Superintendent Ed Morgan submitted them and the board agreed.

The State has been more than co-operative with us," said Morgan, "but the men balked at paying $52,000 for one-half acre." Board chairman James Cooper agreed. "We want academic matters to take precedence and we think this is a justifiable reduction." Date for the new bids has not yet been set.

THE ELECTION
Supt. Morgan pointed out what happened in Hayward after the loss of their recent tax election.

"They cut $700,000 from the budget," said Morgan. "And almost every area that they cut to reduce, we comply with already." According to Morgan, to gain the $700,000 reduction, the Hayward district decreed the following areas to be self-supporting: All athletics, driving, and shopping.

"Fire Wall" Dispute Ties Up Council

Rotary Club Plans Jan. 19 Blood Drive

This is a call to arms — the arms of Daly City blood donors. The annual Daly City Blood Bank has been scheduled for Jan. 19 at 7 p. m. at the Westlake school, 80 Fieldcrest, between Westlawn and Lake Vista.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Daly City, this worthwhile community activity needs the support of every man, woman and youth between the ages of 18 and 61.

The blood donated may be credited to individual personal future use, the use of any friend or member of the family, or any church or civic group. It may also be pledged to the community as a whole.

Sign-up can be made at any PTA, church or civic group or can be done at the bloodmobile on Jan. 19.

Boy Run Over Three Times; Still Lives

A Daly City boy was run over by a car three times Thursday, Jan. 4, and survived the ordeal with only minor cuts and bruises, police reported.

Firemen at Station 2 watched as a car driven by Manuel Luther Jandula, 65, of 178 Parkview avenue, Daly City, ran over eight-year-old Russell Mason, 460 Santa Barbara avenue, Daly City, who came running into the intersection.

The car went over the boy's midsection. Jandula, panicking, backed over the boy's body again with the left front tire, pulled forward again and ran over the boy with both the left front and left rear tires.

The boy's arm then lodged in the left bumper and he was dragged 41 feet down the hill with his head directly behind the rear tire.

Jandula, then jumped out of the car and started running. Bystanders stopped the still rolling car, police reported.

The youth was transferred from Junipero Serra Hospital to Kaiser Hospital, but x-rays disclosed he did not have a skull fracture, although a skin graft would have to be applied to the left side of his head. The driver was not cited in the accident, police reported.

However, a disposition of the case was sent to the district attorney to see if any further action should be taken.

San Mateo County Population Soars

San Mateo County's population is soaring. At about 450,000 now, the State Finance department predicts 546,700 by 1965, and 744,000 by 1975.

These figures came out in the finance report that indicates that California will reach 25 million by 1975, and with that total will become the most populous state in the union. New York now holds that honor.

(Records indicate that the population of California was 140,000 in 1850).

Santa Clara County will pass San Francisco County in population by 1964, according to present growth rates, with about 750,000 people, and San Mateo County will equal SF County in 1975. Santa Clara will top the million mark by 1970. Only Los Angeles and San Diego counties now top the one million figure. Orange and Alameda counties are expected to be the third and fourth counties to pass one million, and Santa Clara will be the fifth.

Planned Community Discord In Pacifica

The Pacifica Planning Commission, January 8, stuck to its guns for a planned community against the request of Ken Royce, owner of the International Inn in South San Francisco, to build 335 apartments and 129 homes in two sections on 166 acres of the northerly slopes of Rockaway Beach.

Royce is asking for single family dwellings and apartment units. However, the planning commission, on the urging of planning developers, voted 6 to 1 in favor of a planned community with parks and open spaces.

Royce said he is willing to have a planned community but wants it in his building agreement. The area calls for a 15-acre park and 78 acres of open spaces. Royce has agreed to a planning program for the land. An engineer's report was submitted by the firm of Wilsey, Hamm & Blair.

Royce, also owner of the Sea Bowl in Rockaway Beach, plans to build 125 apartments and 32 homes on 46 acres overlooking the Pacific Ocean. The land lies east of the Coast Highway. He plans to construct 97 homes and 610 apartments on 120 acres stretching about a half-mile east of the Sea Bowl. The major street for this area would be Fessler avenue, an extension of Crespe avenue, just off the Coast Highway.

WELL KNOWN DRUNK STAYS FOR A NIGHT

Dean Francis O'Connor, 68, address unknown.

A common drunk, arrested at 6055 Mission street, yet a man with a past.

O'Connor holds almost unmatched supremacy among the number of drunk arrests in Daly City — over 50 in the past five years. He has a record in California of over 100 common drunk arrests.

When he was 24, O'Connor, then from Kansas City, enlisted in the Army and served in World War I in France. He won the Croix de Guerre, Purple Heart with seven clusters and earned the rank of sergeant.

Clutching a cigaret, and fingering his soiled shirt in the Daly City jail, O'Connor told of his past.

"I served in the battles of Argonne and Belleau Wood," he said. O'Connor also related he was a retired railroad worker, once had a wife, and has two step-children. He was divorced 26 years ago.

Where's The Path?

YOU WOULDN'T KNOW IT, but the famous dueling spot of United States Senator David C. Broderick and Judge David S. Terry is located behind this jumble of construction works in Westlake Estates. The piles of lumber and storehouses completely hide the path leading to the spot where stone landmarks stand commemorating the duel.

DUELING SPOT HIDDEN FROM PUBLIC VIEW

A rather glaring example of how Daly City's historical past is completely forgotten in the event of "progress" is seen here at the famous Terry-Broderick dueling location in Westlake Estates.

This sleepy little ravine, quite naturally tucked away in a corner off the easterly shore of Lake Merced, has been quite unannouncedly blocked from sight by Doelger construction works. Large piles of lumber, electrical storehouses and builder offices front the entrance to the little sand path that leads into the ravine. A casual viewer would never see the entrance unless it was pointed out to him.

Anyone determined to find the dueling spot would have to pick his way through the construction.

Two stone landmarks were erected in 1916 at the spot and a plaque placed there by the Historical Committee of the Native Sons of the Golden West. The duel of United States Senator David C. Broderick and Judge David S. Terry was fought on this ground in the early morning of Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1859.

Senator Broderick received a wound from which he died three days later. The affair marked the end of dueling in California.

Senator Broderick, facing west, occupied the position marked by the marker farthest to the south, while Judge Terry, facing east, stood in the position occupied by the marker on the north. Spectators stood in the northern part of the ravine.

California politics in the 1850's were a maze of intrigue — of plot and counter plot. And David Broderick was in the middle of it. He carried to his grave a scar inflicted by a glass hurled by one James Freaner, whom Broderick had accused of road-building graft. In 1852, he fought a duel with Judge Caleb Smith, a Southerner.

Broderick's shots went wild but one fired by his adversary struck the watch of his fob pocket and glanced off.

In June of 1856, Senator David C. Broderick entered the

Seven Congolese Teachers Visit Jefferson Schools

Tuesday, Jan. 2, seven visitors from the Congo visited the Jefferson Elementary School District.

All educators in their home land, the visitors are in this country as part of the program of the International Co-operation Administration of the State Department.

The group is here to study school administration in selected school districts. Speaking through their French interpreter, the group's spokesman said that "though we cannot hope to imitate all we find here, because of our very different conditions in the Congo, we do hope to take home many ideas which, with some modification, can be put to use in our schools."

One of the major problems that faces the new nation is the lack of secondary schools. Almost all education is forcibly terminated after grade school. An additional barrier to breach is the historic tradition of denying education to women.

The visitors seemed to feel that it is these educational limitations that have prevented a more rapid spread of democratic ideas. Where there is no education there is illiteracy; where there is illiteracy there are uninformed voters; where there are uninformed voters there can be no democracy.

During the day, the visitors met with the school district's administrators to discuss educational problems of philosophy, organization and administration. A guided tour of several of the schools was taken, and classrooms were visited.

The delegation consisted of David Bola, Job Bolero, Pierre Bolinsome, Emile Makesi, Ruffin Dangu, Antoine Made and Origano Siteke.

Fallout Shelter Booklet Is Here

Some 700 copies of the new Department of Defense fallout shelter protection booklet are now available at city hall, according to assistant city manager Phil Brown.

Copies are available at the city manager's office, city hall, Daly City, or by calling the city manager's office, PL 5-0850.

VINCENT MURPHY (left) and Lou Galli, Daly City's Postmasters, show the Federal Government's new booklet, "Fallout Protection." The book is offered free of charge at any branch of the Post Office.

BUILDING CODE VARIANCE DENIED

The Daly City City Council donned its armor as best it could Monday night, Jan. 8, to withstand the onslaught of general contractor Ricco Lagomarsino in a heated discussion over building code regulations.

Lagomarsino, partner with William Lagomarsino Co., insurance, 7100 Mission Street, Daly City, accused the council, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, City Engineer William Chapman and City Attorney Paul Hupf of being "liars" and "prejudiced" because they wouldn't allow a business license for a building constructed by Lagomarsino.

Babies, Kids Heart Victim Bring Firemen

Vandalous kids, babies, heart victims and car fires kept Daly City firemen busy the past week, according to Chief Elmer Kennedy.

A baby dropped a rubber nipple on a heater Jan. 7 at 1437 Southgate, "smoking up the place," and causing the mother to call firemen.

Children set a fire behind the screen of the Mission Drive Inn theater, Guttenberg street and Franklin. The firemen put out the blaze with shovels and sand.

Firemen rushed to the aid of heart victim Luigi Podesta, 120 School street, Tuesday morning, Jan. 9, but were unable to revive him with a resuscitator. Funeral arrangements are being made with W. C. Lasswell & Co.

An auto fire was extinguished at 3:21 p. m. Jan. 8 on Lusanne street. Firemen responded to a gas scare call at Val's Restaurant and also extinguished a fire in the car of Dr. E. J. Smith, 200 Van Ness avenue, San Francisco, at Belmont and Forest Grove.

Two Burglary Arrests Made

An intoxicated housepainter, who allegedly burglarized a piggy bank of $200, and a baker who reportedly stole enough loot to fill a truck, were arrested this week by Daly City and San Francisco police.

San Francisco police, Tuesday night, arrested Albert Lamm, 27, of 559 San Diego avenue, following a report from witnesses who said they saw him enter a home. A check of his home showed police the following items believed stolen in San Francisco and possibly in Daly City: golf bags, stereo sets, television sets, cameras, sewing machines, trains and typewriters. Charge- (Continued on Page 2)

The building, a two-story concrete affair at Washington street and San Pedro road in Daly City, does not conform to the building code because it was constructed with windows facing the right of way of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

WINDOW PROBLEM
This is against the fire regulations. The wall facing the railroad tracks is closer than three feet from the property line and the building code says no windows can be constructed on a wall that is closer than three feet.

The council spent three and one-half hours during their regular January 4 study session to try to find a solution to Lagomarsino's problem, to no avail.

The problem was carried over Monday night as Lagomarsino brought out information from the National Board of Fire Underwriters that he didn't need to construct a one-hour fire wall next to the tracks but could take out the sheet glass in the six windows and replace them with wired glass.

The council said Lagomarsino should construct a one-hour fire wall.

NAME CALLING
Lagomarsino called the entire council and employees connected with the problem "prejudiced" in the matter. He said Battalion Chief Frank M. Specht "deliberately lied to me" on fire regulations. Fire Chief Kennedy hotly denied this charge. Lagomarsino said city engineer William Chapman "cut me off" in negotiations on the problem.

And Chapman angrily replied that there had been several "heated arguments" over the building regulations and he had been "called names" and had taken abuse.

"I know of no provision in the law to grant a variance," said attorney Hupf. "There is no variance permitted, except that we would have to change the ordinance."

Chapman quoted letters received from the National Board of Fire Underwriters and International Conference of Building Officials which noted that no openings were permitted next to the railroad right of way.

San Mateo-Santa Clara Schedule Transit Talks

Plans for the possible formation of a San Mateo-Santa Clara rapid transit system that would hook-up with Bay Area Rapid Transit District will be discussed when Santa Clara trafficways committee Chairman George Starbird meets with San Mateo Supervisors on January 11.

A joint study by the two counties was suggested by San Mateo County Manager E. R. Stallings after both counties declined to be included in the Bay Area system.

The Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors recently authorized its trafficways committee to study the transit situation. And Stallings will ask the San Mateo County Supervisors to consider the possibility of setting up a similar committee.

Stallings thinks the two counties should work together to improve the present inter-county transit facilities. He has suggested that the Southern Pacific facilities be improved, and that a contract could be made with the Bay Area Rapid Transit for shuttle service between the SP depot at Third and Townsend in San Francisco and the downtown transit lines. "One thing you can count on," he said, "is that we are not going to sit idly by and let the situation grow worse without doing something positive to improve transit."

Starbird, the Santa Clara committee head, commented that in his county the expressway plan is designed to aid travel in the county and along the Peninsula, but that expressways can't do the whole job.

He pointed out that the Los Angeles freeway plan, when completed will cover half the downtown area with roads and parking areas, and commented that "we must look into mass transit so that can't happen here."

Awards Dinner Set For Yule Decor Winners

Five home owners on Wilshire Court won the group award in the Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association Christmas Decoration Contest and will be guests at a Jan. 18 dinner at WSAI guests.

Fred Bertetta, 10 Wilshire Court, won a $100 grand prize. First prize, individual window, a $50 savings bond, was won by Janice Cockerham, 78 Menlo.

Other $25 individual window prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Richardson, 1101 Southgate; Donald W. Johnson, 450 Skyline; B. L. Parker, 343 Palomar; Rubin Furman, 697 South Mayfair, plus several honorable mentions.

He said he was wounded in the right arm at the Battle of Argonne and spent time in several Army hospitals after being felled by chlorine gas.

"I don't get too far away from a hospital," he added.

When asked about why he drank so much, O'Connor said: "I get to thinking about losing my wife and things. I didn't do me any good, you know. I was married 26 years."

Then O'Connor seemed worried about seeing the judge. "By God, I hate to think about going up in front of him. But he's not a bad fellow. I bet he'll give me a good deal."

"I'm going to get out of town and go to Arizona. The climate is better for my health. I'm going to leave tonight."

Police inspectors said O'Connor would leave town, but expected him to be just as bad in Arizona.

In his present condition, they said, only "shock treatments" could help.

dining room of the International Hotel in San Francisco and sat down at the table. While waiting for his morning coffee he opened the newspaper and turned to the political columns. The report of a speech made in Sacramento by Chief Justice David S. Terry caught Broderick's eye and he read it with increasing anger.

Terry, the paper said, had addressed a state convention of Lecompton Democrats (so called they favored the pro-slavery constitution framed at Lecompton, Kansas.) The judge spoke as a defeated candidate, the convention having denied him renomination for the Supreme Court on its state ticket; but he had swallowed his disappointment and reaffirmed his faith in the Lecompton brand of Democracy. The anti-Lecompton wing of the party and its leader—Broderick—he held up to scorn.

Broderick threw down the paper and glared across the table at Duncan W. Perley, known to be a friend of Terry. When he allegedly said to Perley that Terry was a "damned miserable wretch," for lack of gratitude for the favors he had confirmed upon him, Perley informed the judge.

There was an exchange of letters and the inevitable duel.

Officers Subdue Irate Husband

It took three policemen to subdue an irate husband Tuesday night following an argument with his wife, Daly City police reported.

Officers were summoned to the Ernest Bruno Tobien residence, 467 Irvington street, following a report of the argument. Tobien reportedly pushed officer David Gehring down a doorstep. Officers James Sunderland and reserve officer Marshall assisted in arresting Tobien, 57, who was treated for a head injury, the result of striking his head on a stairpost. He was booked for assaulting a police officer and disturbing the peace.

Location Of Dueling Spot

LARGE PLAQUE and two stone landmarks were erected in 1916 in a little ravine off the easterly shore of Lake Merced, now in Westlake Estates to commemorate the famous duel of United States Senator David C. Broderick and Judge David S. Terry in the early morning of Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1859. Construction works for Doelger Homes Unit 1A now block the entrance to the landmarks.

FAMOUS DUEL of United States Senator David C. Broderick and Judge David S. Terry took place on this ground, now a part of Westlake Estates, in the early morning of Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1859. Pacifica Employees To Discuss Duties

The Pacifica Federated Women's Club is sponsoring another public service program to which the public is invited this Tuesday, January 16, at 8 p.m., in the Terra Nova High School library.

City Manager Karl Baldwin will chair a panel of representatives of the nine city agencies, who will give resumes of their duties and the functions their respective departments.

Among those sitting on the panel will be Mayor Gerald Schumacher, representing the city council; Charles Lane, building inspector; Alfred Roberts, engineering and public works; Chief Ed Greer, fire dept.; Chief Neil Tremaine, police dept.; and Eldred Lokker, director, park, beach and recreation. Pacificans are cordially invited to attend, and to bring any questions they may wish to present to the panel.

The meeting is expected to last approximately one hour, following which coffee and refreshments will be served by club members.

The regular business meeting of the women's club will follow the coffee break.

PROFESSIONAL OPINION

The National Board of Fire Underwriters wrote that "concerning the protection of openings in the wall in question, close to the property line, we know of no protective material that would be transparent or translucent which would provide as much as a one-hour fire protection rating."

The International Conference of Building Officials wrote that "in our opinion... the openings shown in the building's west wall are not permitted under the provisions of the Uniform Building Code."

"Our hands are tied as a council," Mayor St. Clair said. "We can't make any kind of a variance."

"He admitted he had no business putting windows in the first place," Chapman said (six windows—two large and four very small).

"These arguments didn't come out until he was found in violation of the original plan."

LIKE A STREET

One of Lagomarsino's main arguments was that the railroad right-of-way should be treated like a street. Then windows would be allowed since the property line would be thought of as farther away.

Chapman pointed out, however, that the Southern Pacific right-of-way is private property and cannot be treated like a street.

Lagomarsino received a building permit for the building on August 1, 1961. The two-story commercial building is complete and ready to be operated for commercial purposes.

But he must comply with the code before a permit is issued.

er training, adult school, summer school and cafeterias.

"We couldn't pick up a dime in these areas because we do it anyway," said Morgan. "They cut back some help, and we could do this. Transportation was eliminated, extra periods except for college preparatory students went, and they decided that lawns would be watered not more than twice per year."

Additionally school nurses, psychological services and home teachers were cut.

Morgan said that the Jefferson district might pick up $200,000 by following Hayward's cuts.

"Where would the other $500,000 come from; from education. In this district the loss would come from our staff and that would be contrary to the board's opinion of getting the best teachers available."

"If we lose we'll have to turn right around and come back in June."

ADULT SCHOOL

The Jefferson District's night school principal, Lou Martin, reported on a new class to be offered: "Comparative World Governments."

The class will teach the philosophies of all political systems in the world, including Communism.

"To present such a class, we must explore all the world's systems," said Martin; "all types of governments throughout the world we live in."

This same class said Martin will soon be required subject matter in the State high schools. Trustee Elio Fontana inquired into the wisdom of teaching such a course in high school. He questioned whether high school students were mature enough to evaluate a system that theoretically is supposed to work perfectly.

Westmoor's social science head, Miss Hildegard Seidel, responded from the audience. "The interest is there (in the student) and they will draw the obvious conclusion if they think logically."

The Board approved the new class.

Lt. Robert Boland In Army Officer Course

Army Second Lieut. Robert Boland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius W. Boland, 78 Fallsides drive, Daly City, completed the officer orientation course at the artillery and missile center, Fort Sill, Okla., on Dec. 14.

During the eight-week course, designed for newly commissioned officers, Lieutenant Boland received instruction in communications, artillery transport, tactics and combined arms, gunnery, material and target acquisition.

A member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, the 23-year-old officer is a 1957 graduate of Sequi High School in Redwood City and a 1961 graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. Before entering the Army he was associated with the Boland Trucking Company in San Francisco.

Two Burglary

a-plates, believed taken in a strong-arm robbery, were also reported found.

Housepainter Charles Smith, 31, of 1423 Webster street, San Francisco, apparently "goofed" at his first burglary attempt January 4 when he entered the Andrew J. Zorbas home, 862 North Mayfair, Daly City, and stole an estimated $200 in cash from a baby's piggy bank while the mother was out shopping.

Smith was reportedly painting the house when the alleged burglary occurred. He told police he "only removed $45" and had been drinking earlier in the day. At first Smith denied the theft, then said when he found $45 in his pockets "started to think" about it.

Officers said Smith changed dimes from the theft into currency at a poolroom on Fillmore street.

Where Does It Go?

Every motorist willingly or unwillingly pays his average 10 cents per gallon gasoline tax whenever he "fills 'er up" or just adds a few gallons of the fluid at necessary intervals. Close to one-third of the cost of every gallon of gas he buys therefore goes to taxes.

Supposedly these taxes are to be used for highway construction and upkeep—but where are the new highways being built? Must be in other parts of the state rather than here.

Did you ever try the Bayshore or El Camino Real during the morning or evening rush hour periods? Just not enough room for you or anyone else—these are the truck-horn times. Better get a truck—at least a 10-tonner—it's safer!

State highway engineers have seemingly forgotten about the several four-lane to three-lane bottlenecks now existing on the Bayshore freeway.

San Mateo County residents pay their 10c per gallon gasoline tax but don't seem to get much in return.

Why can't the state correct these bottlenecks on the Bayshore freeway immediately and then take steps to either widen it more or build a deck the entire length of this freeway to take care of the ever-expanding growth of the Peninsula.

Let's Investigate

Why spend a "bundle" of the taxpayers' hard-earned shekels for a new civic center site—land is exceptionally expensive in this part of the county anyway—when it isn't actually necessary? Can't we add to existing buildings and get the same results?

Take a look at the War Memorial Community Center Building on Mission Street. This is a centrally located city-controlled edifice and it possibly could be used to a much greater extent than it is now. It took a long time to build, is now a good, solid structure but seemingly is not used to the extent it could be.

There lurks the possibility, and a good one at that, for a full-story addition to the top of the present structure, which would provide sufficient space for civic gatherings, council meetings and perhaps, with a little planning, might even provide enough space for a judge and courtroom.

Possible cost of such an undertaking might be held to an approximate $250,000 mark, making it cheaper by far than to purchase land at its present market price and erect another building. Give it a thought—it's your tax money that may be spent for a new civic center site, whether it comes from sales taxes or any other form of taxes.

It Might Work!

From time to time we hear the remark: "Why doesn't Daly City consider hiring a full-time council composed of men and women who would hold their meetings in the daytime and be at City Hall for a full day?" In other words, they would have full-time jobs but would necessarily have to be paid as full-time city employees.

There are many competent and capable people throughout the city who would relish a chance to hold down such a job, even though it would involve a full five-day week, as employees of the city. And, with a decent salary attached to their jobs, it might well prove a turn for the better in the realm of city government.

Something For Everyone

by
Samuel Chandler

Confucius said, "Who heeds not the future will find sorrow close at hand." May I call your attention to what is said of the future in the January issues of some of the magazines that can be read at either branch of the Daly City Public Library.

The January 8 issue of U. S. News and World Report is devoted to a feature entitled "Outlook for '62." The components of this article are: "Business: How Good Will It Be?", "War—The Chances Now," "Investment-Advice from Experts," "Kennedy's Plans—Will Congress Go Along?" and "Politics—Will Republicans Gain?"

In Look for January 16 twenty-five "far-seeing" people tell what they hope, fear and imagine for 1987. Among the seers are Martin Luther King, William Saroyan, Konrad Adenauer, Billy Graham, Bishop Pike, Eleanor Roosevelt and Secretary Udall. Strangely enough, most of the twenty-five leaders are optimistic about the chances for peace and prosperity in our world. Writing on page 17, President Kennedy states their hopes: "There will be risk and burdens and hardship; for the challenges of the sixties and the constant threats to freedom, the opportunities for chaos and crisis, show no signs of lessening even then. There will be change and progress and opportunity; for the revolutions sweeping the world today—political, economic, social, scientific, medical and a host of others—will not have abated... There will be several presidents in the next twenty-five years—they cannot do that work alone. But with the help of many, we can all look back on this period—on the occasion of Look's fiftieth anniversary—and say with pride and conviction, 'We inherited a great land and freedom, and we have made them greater.'"

The lead article in Newsweek is "1962—Prosperous, Yes—But Peaceful?" Part of this article is a cartoon that is priceless and filled with truth.

Letters To The Editor

Takes Issue In Tree Planting Episode Here

Dear Editor:

After reading the article in your paper last night about the removal of a palm tree, I wanted to let off a little steam about such a deplorable condition.

It is hard to believe that I read this in an American newspaper. What in the world is happening to people that a man can't even plant what he chooses in his own yard?

In the first place, the palm trees are wrong for this section and, anyway, it looks like we are in a desert where nothing else will grow. Look at San Mateo, Burlingame and Redwood City with their beautiful yards and trees.

They don't have each yard the same. This looks like an army camp with everything the same.

This is supposed to be a free country, but the people won't want to live in Westlake if they don't have any rights. It is as bad as some country where they tell you what you have to do.

We are leasing a house and I am certainly glad we didn't buy. I am a native of California and proud of it, but never heard of such a community before.

No one welcomes you. All

It has been suggested that in place of building a new city hall, an additional story could be added to this building, providing much additional area with resulting economies.

they do is tell what you can't do.

Please wake these people up. We do live in a free country, don't we? We enjoy your paper. It is about the only thing we know of the community.

Sincerely,
MRS. J. CAPACI,

and it is dark and the wind blows. The officer shivers from his parking place to the square grey building which barely contains police headquarters. "Barely" because, muses the officer, the department and the city is several times larger than it was in 1939, which was the year the WPA erected City Hall.

Down the musty, presently deserted, hallway he goes, waving a greeting to the radio dispatcher for the "old" watch. That worthy, soon to report off, evinces happiness at seeing this representative of the relieving platoon. The officer, with eight or more cold hours of mostly darkness ahead of him, is somewhat more cynical in his approach to the remainder of the night, and waves, but does not smile. His smiles, if any, can well wait until after he has had a cup of coffee some time later.

The officer descends a wooden stairway and enters a "locker room"—which means that there are 12 wooden wall lockers located in a lavatory space—12 lockers to serve approximately 40 men. He obtains what he needs from the locker which he shares with three other men, and proceeds into the nearby squadroom.

There he waits, with other early comers, for the nightly session during which the sergeant presides, when they will deliberate and debate prior to dispersing out to the beats. Others are arriving now, and the self-appointed wit spouts his latest joke and nervous trips are made to the lavatory and back. The sergeant fumes until the men are assembled in the room for roll call.

The room is crowded now—the sergeant, five or six patrolmen, and the civilian radio dispatcher. "Wanted" photos adorn the walls, and typewritten orders are also present thereon. A coffee urn is silently present, for the "squadroom," so called, doubles as a coffee room for the City Hall population, which increases several fold during the weekday daylight hours.

The reports are read aloud, and orders are issued. The officer inscribes pertinent data in his notebook, and, faced with the night's business, becomes more fully awake. The meeting adjourns, and the officer trots with the others out to the cold, drak alleyway for vehicle inspection. On the way he passes his off-going counterpart from the "old" watch. They converse briefly concerning current problems on the beat.

It was quiet tonight, says the man being relieved. There is a party at this address which may need to be quieted later on, and the family at that address may need your attention—I quieted them down earlier.

The officer inspects his radio car carefully, and his sergeant inquires solicitously as to the condition of the auto. It seems that the vehicle is in one piece and that all necessary equipment is present. The sergeant, satisfied, goes on to the next radio car. The officer enters his auto, and arranges his gear where it will be available for quick use. He warms the motor and settles himself. He reports to the station, where the "new" dispatcher now prevails at the lighted communications desk in the upstairs business office, that he is who he is, that he is operating this auto, and is assigned to that beat, and that he is presently proceeding to that beat for purpose of patrol, and that, for the ensuing eight hours or so, he will be available for radio calls dispatching him to wherever it is the dispatcher would have him go.

The patrolman is free for the remainder of the night—to patrol, to answer the summonses of the dispatcher—and to be available on the beat when the sergeant will check him later on—and to be there for any pet projects the lieutenant might have for him to do. All he has to do now is to protect life and property, to adjudicate disputes, to make official reports of disturbances, and probably have a cup of coffee as fortification against both drowsiness and the cold.

As daylight approaches, he will check his store fronts for breakage (in the event he may have missed it in the darkness), and then most of his thoughts will turn to traffic enforcement and accident investigation, for the early morning traffic rush, made up of the cars of people going to work, is a weekday event.

Then, eventually, he will prepare to report off duty as a member of the "old" watch, and the "new" watch will go to work. The officer will grin and wave happily to his relief, who will wave and will not grin. The officer will pass a few words with the man who is relieving him, regarding the condition of the beat.

The officer will then check with his sergeant, who, if the officer's work is satisfactory and complete, will dismiss him. The officer can then go home and, if he does not have to go to court, to sleep—if the neighborhood noises and his nightly consumption of coffee will allow him to do so.

PERSONNEL GLIMSES... Sergeant Rocco Benedetti this month celebrates 25 years with the department. The "Old Sarge" is the senior man on the entire department, and is currently assigned as relief patrol sergeant.

Helen Sherwood, typist-clerk, now has four years with the department. Helen and husband, Bud, are the proud parents of four robust sons. Helen's special interest lies in the juvenile field, and she has been effectively employed to this end from time to time in investigations involving either infants or female juveniles.

Gordon Sims turns over one year with this department. Gordon has had extensive police experience in the East, and he recently completed a course of study at the San Mateo County Recruit School. Gordon and spouse, Pat, are star bowlers for the cellar dwelling team in the Daly City employees league.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

At the New Year's beginning we are in trouble and we need help!

Never has so much promise and peril shared common ground. Economic standards soar ever higher and moral standards dip lower. Culture and the arts flourish and so does crime. Science orbits men around the earth while men living side by side can't get along. Healing arts make rapid advances and yet men grow weaker and sicker in many respects. At a time when law has been developed to its greatest degree, the United Nations organization fights for existence and it seems that some Americans are as anxious to scuttle this expression of international law as are communists in Russia and Red China.

All the while, war's terrible tools are reaching such ultimate form as to make the world into a massive crematorium in one horrible day. We may be near to literal fulfillment of Peter's words:

"But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be, in all holy conversation and godliness?" — (2 Peter 3:10,11)

We need help! We need to help ourselves by refusing to "stick our heads in the sand" and hope problems will go away without honest individual effort to solve them. We also need to help ourselves by refusing to be stamped by certain extremist groups which, if given head, would divide and sicken our country not unlike communism itself.

We need to help each other, too, instead of being so quick to blame each other. A dedicated people, to people offensive" throughout our country and around the world could accomplish good and understanding which governments demonstrate inability to achieve.

Finally, and most important, we need God's help! Psalm 34 tells of a man so beset by fears and troubles that life became intolerable. Then, God's help was earnestly sought and found. To troubled men in other times this Psalmist stoutly recommends "Look to God... and be radiant!" for "This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles." (Psalm 34:5,6)

As history moves swiftly toward a culminating moment, ours is the same predicament and need as was the ancient psalmists. In returning to God we shall find divine help, and shall then be in better position to help others, and ourselves.

FIRE FACTS

This column is written by Daly City firemen and will be published in this newspaper weekly with the main purpose of informing the public of pertinent information about their fire department.

In 1958, through the efforts of the San Mateo County fire chiefs, night school was arranged for at San Mateo College. This school is designed for the primary purpose of helping San Mateo County fire department personnel to become more proficient in their work.

The courses vary from administration to hydraulics and fire fighting procedures. The administration courses are taught by the San Mateo College faculty. All other courses are taught by officers in various fire departments.

If a fireman is ambitious enough to complete 15 units in fire fighting and 45 units in other required subjects, he receives an Associate of Arts degree.

Those of you who have attended night school while working full time know it is no easy task to complete school.

A fireman faces the same problems, and those without previous college credits must invest approximately five years before they obtain their Associate Arts degree.

Now you may ask, "Why does a fireman go to school on his own time?" He goes to school for two reasons and they are the same for everyone who works.

First, so that he may improve himself. By improvement we mean that he may be better equipped mentally to take and pass promotional examinations. Not all of us care to spend all our days on the back step of a fire engine. But on the other hand not all of us who have or will have an A.A. can be fire chiefs any more than all attorneys can be members of the Supreme Court.

Second, so that he may do a better job. This is the most important to you as a taxpayer. Educated, well trained men with good equipment is certainly an asset to the city, and over the long run saves the taxpayer a good deal of money.

To sum up, we have said that firemen do go to college to improve themselves, and this in turn helps you, through a more efficient department for the same tax dollar.

A progressive business man will say that to train new personnel is timely and expensive, therefore more is done for the trained employer than just pay his salary. We as firemen know we have an obligation to all the citizens of this community, and if the time should arise for one of us to sacrifice our life for you or your family then we must do so. However, you as a citizen have an obligation to us other than just pay our salary.

Your fire department answered the following calls during the period of Dec. 25 to Dec. 31: False alarms, 4; smoke scores, 9; lockout, 8; inhalator calls, 3; rubbish fires, 2; house fire, 1; auto fire, 1; rescue cat, 1.

Questions and Answers

This is the second of five articles dealing with the Jefferson Union High School District's tax election on February 6. These articles are designed to bring in clear and concise form the important issues that the people will be asked to vote upon. Today's article deals with the following questions:

WHY IS THE ELECTION NECESSARY?

Answer: The High School District's General Purpose Tax of $1.35 will not raise sufficient funds to finance the present educational program.

WHEN DID THE JEFFERSON UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT HAVE ITS LAST OPERATIONAL TAX INCREASE?

Answer: The February 6 election will be the FIRST tax increase election held in the High School District in 15 years. No other high school district in the Bay Area can claim such a tax record!

WHY DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT NEED MORE MONEY?

Answer: When the present $1.35 general purpose tax was levied in 1947, the district had one high school, enrolling 778 students. This year, with three schools in operation, the district has enrolled 4,261 students. More money is needed to:

(a) Hire additional teachers—15 to 20 each year, just to keep up with increased enrollment;

(b) Staff Oceana High School, which will have approximately 700 students when the doors open next September;

(c) Purchase new and/or additional text books, library books, and educational supplies for four high schools;

(d) Purchase additional services and/or materials;

(e) Complete all of the district's schools. The High School District does not use general fund money to build its schools! It does spend general fund money, in addition to State money and local bond funds, to adequately equip its schools. Examples: Library books, science equipment, maintenance and operational equipment, etc.

HOW DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT'S PRESENT GENERAL PURPOSE TAX RATE COMPARE WITH OTHER SAN MATEO COUNTY SCHOOLS?

Answer: The district's present $1.35 is the LOWEST Elementary or High School, legal maximum tax rate!

WHAT INCREASES — TAX, COST PER PUPIL, ENROLLMENTS, ETC. — HAS THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT EXPERIENCED SINCE PASSAGE OF THE PRESENT $1.35 IN 1947?

Answer: General Purpose Tax Increase.....None
Assessed valuation (per A.D.A.)..... 27%
Cost per pupil per year..... 118%
Enrollments..... 475%

Next week the following questions will be answered:

1—How does the High School District's educational costs compare with other high school districts?

2—Is the district attracting and retaining competent teachers?

3—How is it possible for a district to have the "LOWEST" cost per A.D.A. and the second "HIGHEST" salary schedule?

4—Will the additional money derived from this tax election be used to build classrooms?

5—If the $2.00 General tax Purpose tax rate is approved, will the trustees levy the full amount?

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

For the fifth straight year, county clerk John A. Bruning reported, more divorce and annulment suits were filed in his office during 1961 than there were marriage licenses issued.

Bruning said his office issued 2058 marriage licenses but at the same time handled 2384 divorce and annulment cases.

A group of Vallejo residents have appealed to city hall in the wake of recent slayings of 50 auto tires along some of Vallejo's picturesque and rustic streets. They are asking for information on how to obtain lighting facilities.

Portable classrooms to meet an unexpected influx of thousands of new students from two giant new subdivisions within the boundaries of the South San Francisco unified school district has been approved by the school district. The district plans to purchase between 10 to 20 portable classrooms that can be moved from location to location.

Mr. and Mrs. Guenther Bauer of 218 Clifden drive, South San Francisco, were proud parents of triplets born Jan. 1 at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. Had the triplets been born a day earlier it would have meant $1800 in tax exemptions for their father for 1961.

The groundwork for a rapid transit system in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties was laid Jan. 16. Officials of the two counties decided the next step is a discussion between the San Mateo county board of supervisors and George Starbird, chairman of the Santa Clara county trafficways committee.

San Mateo county's population will soar to 744,000 by 1975, according to the State Finance department's report. The report listed San Mateo county's present population as 451,000 with 546,000 seen in 1965, 644,900 in 1970 and 744,000 for 1975.

Half Moon Bay city councilmen are in the market for a sister city. The city council informally approved a proposal that the city select a sister city in either Central or South America.

Initial public response was often strong to supplies of the Defense Department's 46-page booklet on fallout protection, now available at all North County post offices.

Only one brook to a family is being allowed in the post office window distributions. Burlingame and San Mateo post offices reported a "brisk" demand. Daly City reported a light response.

He is a member of the Press and Union League Club of San Francisco and has been a member of the executive boards of Congregation Beth Israel, the Zionist Organization of America and a number of other Jewish and civic organizations.

In his position with the Jewish National Fund, it was he who arranged for the establishing and dedication of the Beth El Forest in the hills of Judea as a gift from the congregation's religious school. Mr. Landsberg was educated in Germany, Switzerland and England and has lectured widely on Jewish and Middle East affairs as well as music. Partial Eclipse Of Sun Slated In 1962

After closing its doors for a week in order to polish up its stars and dust off its heavens, Morrison Planetarium at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park will reopen Jan. 7 with an all-new and topical astronomy show, "Forecast 1962," and give its audiences a preview of some of the strange and unusual events which will occur during the year ahead.

Within the next 12 months, three unusual phenomena of special note will take place, two of which will actually be visible in the Bay Area (weather permitting, of course):

On Sunday, Feb. 4, at 40 minutes before sunset, there will be a partial eclipse of the sun, but in order to dramatize this occurrence for local audiences, they will travel (by means of the planetarium projector) to the Solomon Islands where the eclipse will be total.

On July 31 there will be an annular (or ring) eclipse of the sun. (An annular eclipse occurs when the moon is so far away from the earth that it does not cover the entire sun, but leaves a visible ring of sunlight around the black center, which is the moon.) Florida is the only state in the United States where this will be seen, and there only in a partial phase.

The third unusual event and one also visible in the Bay Area is an occultation of Saturn in which the planet is hidden briefly by the moon. This occurs on Sept. 11 and may be seen in the southeastern sky at about 8 a. m., daylight savings time.

In order to present these unusual happenings dramatically, new projectors have been constructed for this particular show.

"Forecast 1962" is presented Wednesday through Sunday at 3:30 and 8:30 p. m., with extra matinees at 2 p. m. on Saturdays and Sundays. The planetarium is closed on Mondays and there is only one performance, at 3:30 p. m., on Tuesdays.

"Forecast 1962" will run through Feb. 11.

Stockton Fire, Policemen Can't Hold Two Jobs

Members of the Stockton fire and police departments may not become "moonlighters" — holding a second job — ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week.

The Stockton city charter prohibits such municipal employees from pursuing any other "profession, trade, calling or business, but shall devote their entire time to the performance of their duties as city employees."

As in other cities, Stockton firemen and police are subject to call to duty 24 hours a day.

"If the rule is harsh, it is for the individual to determine whether he will subject himself to its terms by becoming a member of the department," states the opinion. "The right to work for the public is a privilege which may be granted on any condition which the public agency may impose consistent with the law and public policy."

State Senator Alan Short of San Joaquin County made the request for the opinion which was prepared by Deputy Attorney General William A. Shank of Sacramento.

Senior Citizens Will Get New Activity Center

A new Senior Citizen Activity Center for residents of the Stonestown-Park Merced area will open at 10 a. m. Monday, Jan. 15, in Temple Baptist Church, 3355 19th avenue.

Designed for people over 60, the center will offer instruction in arts and crafts such as pottery, leather work and ceramic jewelry. There will also be discussion groups and folk rhythms. Seniors will bring their own sandwiches. Coffee and cake will be provided.

The center will be an opportunity for seniors to meet new friends and discuss common interests and problems with them. Working with the seniors will be volunteers trained and supervised by Mrs. Milton Schiffman of the San Francisco Council of Churches.

The center will be open every Monday from 10 a. m. until 2:30 p. m.

Fire Victim Dies Of Burns

Mrs. Robert Watkins, mother of three children, who was pulled from the flaming garage of her Pacific home last week, died Jan. 6 in Peninsula Hospital.

The woman had clung precariously to life for a week, her body covered with second and third degree burns. An artificial kidney was implanted in her body in the life-saving effort. Her three young children were pulled to safety by neighbors and a passerby at the time of the fire and were unhurt.

Although Congress did not pass any formal act of admission, Ohio became a state on March 1, 1803 with the termination on that date of Federal salaries paid to territorial employees.

Double Ring Ceremony For Marsh-Hutchings

In a double ring ceremony on Dec. 17, Evelyn Marie Hutchings became the bride of Frederick Francis Marsh, Jr., at Holy Angeles Church in Colma. A reception followed at the Carpenter's Hall in San Bruno.

The bride wore a lace and taffeta gown, and a tiara with finger-tip veil.

Maid of honor was Mary Lou Miller. Bridesmaids were Claudia Newman, Josephine Lopez, Caroline Cameron and Geraldine Franzosa. The attendants wore royal blue satin gowns, and carried carnations.

Mother of the bride wore turquoise satin and carried a bouquet of white orchids. Mother of the groom wore pale pink satin.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Harold Hutchings.

Best man was Philip Bernardi. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Harold Hutchings and George Hutchings.

After the wedding, the couple left for a honeymoon trip in Squaw Valley. They will return to Camp Pendleton, where Marsh is stationed with the Marine Corps. He completes eight months of training at Pendleton, and then is to be sent overseas for three years.

Local Visit Slated By Congo Educators

Two Congolese educators, on a tour studying American educational methods and facilities, paused long enough in their travels to pay a visit to Westlake School on January 2.

The visitors, Emile Maki and Joe Boleko, are from Leopoldville. They are both superintendents of education in school districts with approximately 2000 children.

As the visitors visited classrooms and observed playground activities, they expressed the wish that someday a similar physical plant with its abundant educational materials might be available to the children of the Congo. The educators were particularly interested in some of the teaching machines and techniques currently employed with upper-grade children in the school.

The visitors, through their interpreter Pierre Legai, of the U. S. Office of Information, said that all teaching in their country is done in the French language. This is because of the numerous dialects in the Congo, many without any written language.

Class sizes in Congolese schools are approximately the same as in this country. Even some teaching methods are similar to ours. Youngsters enjoy sports activities in a planned P. E. program and employ such teaching aids as the abacus in solving arithmetic problems.

The educators next stop is Los Angeles and a visit to schools in that city. While there, they will complete a course in educational administration and teaching methods at U.C.L.A. before returning to the Congo.

Brides Often Ill-Prepared For Job, Says U.C. Expert

BERKELEY. — After haste to wed, set up house, and become mothers, too many young women find themselves totally unprepared for the job they have taken on.

The adjustments all come in a terrible rush, with the result that what is said to be the best part of life too often looks like the worst, says Dr. Gaylord P. Whitlock, head of the family and consumer sciences program of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

"It's very obvious," he told a recent gathering of 4-H Club adult leaders, "that many of the problems are due to the young woman's singular lack of technical training for the domestic job she throws herself into so wholeheartedly."

"She doesn't know how to cook, how to budget, how to buy economically, or how to resist high-pressure salesmanship, nor even sometimes how to be nice to her husband."

Education, the extension leader said, is an incredibly long process.

"Sometimes changes take place so slowly they are almost imperceptible," he said. "Yet this is the means by which we learn what we learn, starting from our total ignorance at birth."

"If learning is such a slow process, requiring repetition upon repetition, isn't it peculiar that so many people in authority — parents, teachers, and employers — operate on the premise that a single, clear explanation or a well-thought-out demonstration can teach instantaneously?"

"I have had a theory for a long time that the best teaching is done when we move from the specific to the general, because that is the way learning takes place with the greater rapidity and better retention. Too often teaching has been throwing the book at the learner, with a generalization and expecting him to see the specific within."

Dr. Whitlock urged leaders of young people to apply the "mother's method" in their teaching: encouragement, patience, good humor, awareness, evaluation, and above all, commendation when deserved. Mother's method, he said, can become the teacher's method, the foreman's method, and the boss's method.

"Creativity," he said, "cannot be taught; it must be released."

National Cub Scout Director To Conduct Training School

O. W. "Bud" Bennett, Director of Cub Scouting for the National Council Boy Scouts of America, will conduct a special two-day training series for San Mateo County Council Scouters, Friday and Saturday, January 12 and 13.

Bennett, after morning meetings with council officers and executive staff, will present a special program for Den Mothers at 2 p. m. Friday, Jan. 12. Ladies of the Woodside Road Community Methodist Church have extended an invitation to the ladies of Cubbing from all parts of the county to join them "at tea," and hear Bennett's presentation.

Friday evening, Cub leaders of the Northern District will host a "Junta" at El Camino High School in South San Francisco. Beginning at 8 p. m., Bennett will present the latest in Pack program ideas for cubmasters, committeemen, and interested parents from all parts of the county.

Members of the Council Commissioner staff, key volunteer Scouters who assist unit leaders in each community, will meet with Bennett for a full day training program beginning at 9 a. m., Saturday, January 13 at Scouting Center, 1300 S. Bayshore Blvd., San Mateo.

Bennett is responsible for the development of the Cub Scouting program nationally. After many years' experience in the field as Scout Executive, he was called by the National Council in 1947 to help develop Cubbing literature and training aids. He has served as National Director of Cub Scouting for 10 years, and, in addition to responsibilities for editing quarterly program guides and training material for adult leaders, he has prepared much of the "boy stuff" material used in basic Cubbing handbooks.

What's New In Schools --- Talk Slated

Superintendent Richard L. Foster and Dr. Vinton S. Stratton will be guest speakers at the Thomas Edison PTA meeting on Thursday, Jan. 11.

The theme for the meeting is "The New in Our School District." Foster will tell what's happening in our district and Dr. Stratton will tell what is being done in our schools now. The meeting will be held in the multi-purpose room at 8 p. m.

It's Illegal To Park On The Freeways

Unfamiliarity with the law which prohibits parking on freeways is causing an increasing number of motorists to receive citations for parking violations along freeways which traverse mountainous areas, Captain John W. Kennedy, commander of the Redwood City area of the California Highway Patrol, said this week.

"During winter months, many families stop along mountain highways to let youngsters play in the snow. If they stop along a freeway, they are subject to citation under the law which makes it a violation to stop, park, or leave a vehicle upon a freeway — including the shoulder and other portions of the right of way — except when necessary to avoid injury or damage, or in compliance with an official traffic control."

And even though all the "ifs" were overcome, the Berkeley scientist concluded, the vast emptiness of space would still place astronomical odds against the chance that space-traveling organisms could hit a target on another stellar system.

In addition, he pointed out that ultraviolet light would kill every known type of micro-organism within less than a day in interplanetary or interstellar space.

Examining the panspermia hypothesis, Dr. Sagan said that most stars are too short-lived to allow life to evolve on their planets or are lacking sufficient radiation intensity to eject anything larger than a single molecule from their gravitational fields.

He also pointed out that while the violation increase has been noted in mountainous areas, the law applies to all California freeways.

Gardener's Checklist

- 1—Shade trees should be planted now, not later when you think of their shade. Bare root stock is easier to handle and will make a fast start in the spring when it gets warmer.
- 2—Prune roses, grapes, berries and fruit trees. Wait until next month to prune fuchsias.
- 3—Gladolus may be planted any time between now and early summer. Make several plantings.
- 4—Lawns should be cut shorter in winter than in summer. Mow them preferably when the grass is dry.
- 5—Plant the deciduous magnolias now for a sudden burst of bloom when weather starts to warm up.

The permanent troop leader, Donna Pelligrini, will head the troop this month.

With Spring's Arrival It's Time For Color

Getting the jump on spring is always a pleasant sort of on-shipmanship in the garden. And the fact it's so easy to do in California makes the pleasure no less enjoyable. If anything, our pleasure is increased by the amount of early color we can come by.

There are shrubs such as camellias which bloom all winter and others such as flowering quince which show color long before they have a right to. But neither of these nor any other shrub makes as bright a calling card for spring as a bed of annuals. Who can deny that spring has sprung when he picks pansies, pot marigolds and iceland poppies from his garden.

These and others will be available for planting this month and next, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. Among the others: sweet alyssum, violas, fairy primrose, snapdragons, and stock. The last two named will be somewhat later to bloom than the others.

In planting any annuals at this time of year, it is important to provide a well drained soil. The best way to insure drainage is to plant in a slightly raised bed. However, past experience will no doubt have indicated to you which areas in the garden are well enough drained without having to be raised.

Annuals generally love sun and winter-planted annuals are no exception. The fact that they perform in cool weather does not eliminate the need for a sunny planting bed. Your nurseryman will no doubt tell you that sun is more important in winter than in summer.

Winter rains are usually sufficient to carry these bedders after you've once watered them in. Don't count on it, however. In California, unusual weather is often the usual and extended dry spells are not apt to occur. Baiting the new planting for snails is a sensible precaution. Trouble from these persistent pests may not develop, but you can make sure it won't by simply tossing some pellets out for good measure.

Two More Square Dance Clubs Join Up

Two more folk dance clubs have joined the San Francisco Council of Folk Dance Groups, making a total of 25 member clubs.

One is strictly and uniquely a party club which meets once a month; the other club meets weekly and rarely has a party. But both welcome visitors.

The Sunsetters Folk Dance Club presents a program of beginning and intermediate level folk and square dances at 8:30 p. m. the first Saturday of every month at Jack McKay's Square Dance Center, 1641 Taraval street (near 26th avenue), San Francisco. There are always refreshments, special entertainment and guest callers.

The El Camino Reelers, instructed by Miss Elsie MacLaren (527 MacArthur drive, Colma), are an all-level class group who meet every Friday night from 8 to 10 o'clock at the Daly City War Memorial Community Center. Adults interested in folk, round and square dancing are welcome. For further information, phone Miss MacLaren, evenings, at PL 5-0065.

Both clubs use dances that have been researched by the Folk Dance Federation of California. Both clubs would welcome the opportunity to share their folk dance fun.

Nuclear Fields Are Open For Navy Volunteers

Opportunities for young men entering the United States Navy have never been greater, according to local recruiting service personnel.

Waiting lists for Navy enlistments have been nearly depleted by the recent build-up of military strength.

Qualified applicants are now needed in every one of the more than 60 technical fields to man new ships sliding down the nation's building ways at a stepped-up pace.

Of particular need are high school graduates meeting high mental, moral and physical standards and capable of being trained to man our country's first line of defense, the all-new Polaris missile equipped nuclear powered submarines.

Because of rigorous selection criteria and the fact that all submariners must volunteer for this duty, their attrition rate is extremely low, however, the capability of modern American industrial might to complete new submarines ahead of assigned schedules is causing the demand for submarine personnel to outrun the supply.

Every new Polaris submarine that slides down the building ways requires not one but two full crews in order to keep their omnipotent weapons ever ready for immediate use in defense of liberty for us and the rest of the free world. These new submarines have been described as marvels of the electronic age — strictly a push button operation, but it still takes skilled technicians to know which button must be pushed and, above all, to maintain the intricate systems that those buttons are connected to.

Patriotic young men with good academic backgrounds and in excellent physical condition are invited to contact their nearest Navy recruiter for more information regarding guaranteed enlistments into the nuclear and Polaris training programs of the United States Navy.

Central American Education

In the few past weeks, one frequently reads of criticisms in connection with the spending of U. S. money for foreign aid, emphasizing that the money is not being spent in Latin America to raise standards of living, but going into the hands of a very few wealthy people.

This cannot be denied in some of the Central American Republics, however, in Guatemala there is a record of achievement in education, brought about through mutual cooperation between that nation and ours, that is a tribute to both countries.

Currently, in Guatemala, a national literacy drive is on to erase some 72% illiteracy of the entire population. A tremendous undertaking when you recognize that there are more than 3,349,000 inhabitants, but it is being tackled by an enthusiastic group of Guatemalan educators along with U. S. educational technicians.

Under another part of this program, named "Tripart," or "Plan Ydigoras," it was possible to build 146 primary schools during 1960, at a total cost of $1,796,877.00. Of this amount the community paid $825,815.00. The Guatemalan Department of Public Works contributed $480,712.00, and the U. S. (through I.C.A.) assisted in the amount of $490,340.00. Percentage wise this means Guatemala contributed 75%, the U. S. the remainder. In the next two years an additional 325 schools will be built. In this instance, the U. S. is giving a helping hand to those willing to help themselves. An eventual goal of this building program is complete self-support.

A related branch to the school building program is that of SCIDE (Servicio Cooperativo Interamericano de Educacion), operating under the U. S. State Department through the U. S. Consulate in Guatemala City, in cooperation with the National Government and Ministry of Education of Guatemala.

Dr. Admanson is the Chief U. S. Educational technician that heads the division. He is a highly qualified educator and administrator, dedicated to the principle that the future of a nation is in the education of its youth. Currently Dr. Admanson is guiding some 200 Guatemalans in the division, in a wide range of occupations, along with advising the 20 U. S. Technicians, that are on the staff. The Nationals have been carefully selected and screened for their tasks, while the technicians have the highest professional backgrounds. The technicians assist in building educational programs, setting up curriculum guides and goals, planning and working to raise not only educational standards, but also standards of life in every area of the country.

All department heads and teachers are Guatemalans. The technicians serving as consultants. Dr. Admanson related in an interview, that this has been extremely successful, and that there has not been one serious conflict between the personnel of the two countries.

In Guatemala City, the only vocational school of the nation will be found, which is making an excellent attempt to overcome acute labor shortages in the fields of such areas as carpentry, plumbing, printing, mechanics and related skills.

A visit to the school revealed a very comprehensive program of training. Book-binding, cabinet-making, printing of texts for the national literacy drive as well as school texts, mechanical drawing, ceramics, physics, and a host of other subjects were offered. It was interesting to note, during a visit to the recreational area that the students were not engaged in the national sport of Soccer, but in a spirited game of basketball.

On the elementary level, progress is equally impressive. Spending several hours with Dr. Arse, Chief of the Teacher Training Program of SCIDE, who is a noted author and educator held in high esteem throughout Central America, the writer had the opportunity of evaluating several first and second grade reading texts, which had been written by Guatemalan teachers. These books, attractively illustrated, scientifically composed for Guatemalan children, were printed by CARE for distribution to the schools. Unfortunately, funds are not available so that every child may have a copy but must be shared on a basis of one book to many children.

The reader may question why emphasis is put on this factor. This is caused by the knowledge that in one Central American Republic the book used to teach adults is also used for children. In many others the books originate outside of the country, particularly from Cuba and Spain. The inference here is one of great national importance to our country, it is not better to assist the Guatemalans, through our U. S. technicians, in the writing of books for their nation, than to ignore the influence imported texts from Cuba has against our country? In addition, it should not be overlooked that by encouraging the development of texts by nationals, that a positive step is being made towards the raising of national standards of living.

The teacher training program is an immense undertaking. Slowly, the teacher with only third grade education is being assisted towards higher professional competency. Workshops are being given much help. Credential requirements are being investigated and strengthened. A demonstration school with master teachers is a part of the program. The national salary of teachers has been raised to $100 per month, and further increases seem evident as the program develops. Not all public school teachers are receiving this salary, but will be in the near future.

In the opinion of the writer, the program evidenced only one handicap, this being that in the effort to place the Guatemalan at the "wheel" of his own country, few are aware in either nation, of the excellent job being accomplished through mutual friendship and cooperation between the two countries.

Overshadowing this is the realization that here is a program worthy of support by the U. S., which benefits an entire nation, and not a select few selfish officials.

Cereal-Fruit-Milk Combos

If "tired of the same old foods" is the excuse of breakfast skippers at your house, why not surprise them with new and different cereal-fruit-milk combos? Quick and easy to prepare, these combos can add variety and interest to the morning meal.

Have you tried serving puffed wheat topped with sliced bananas and chocolate milk? Or blueberries and sliced peaches atop puffed wheat and served with cinnamon or nutmeg milk? How about raspberries atop puffed rice and served with an egg nog?

These are but a few suggestions to try during September Better Breakfast Month—the month designated to improve breakfast eating habits for the school and work year ahead. Research at the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that adequate breakfasts are essential to maintain physical and mental efficiency during the late morning hours. Endless variety is possible when breakfast follows a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, recommended by doctors and dietitians as an adequate morning meal for most persons.

March of Dimes Expands Aid for Victims Of Crippling Birth Defects, Arthritis, Polio

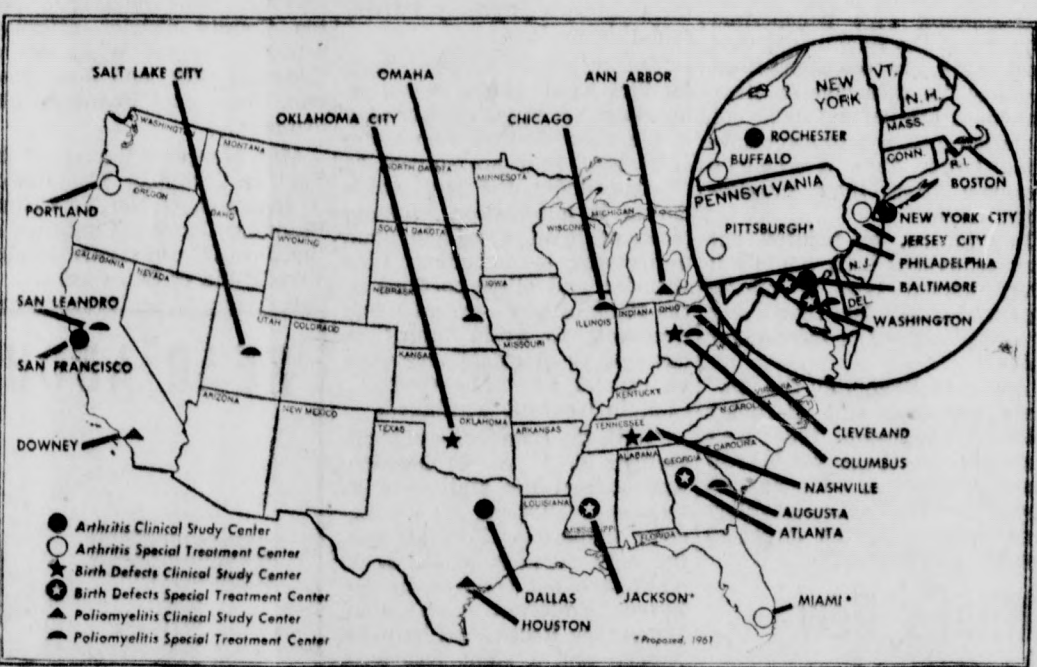

Victims of crippling birth defects and rheumatoid arthritis, among the largest groups of the medically underprivileged in the nation, can soon look for help virtually at their doorsteps, thanks to the March of Dimes.

The National Foundation, supported by March of Dimes funds, has broadened its horizons to give direct aid to children under the age of 19 suffering from all types of birth defects. Aid was previously limited to children with open spine, open skull and water on the brain.

The voluntary health organization has also authorized its 3,100 chapters throughout the United States to use available funds to establish a network of Special Treatment Centers and Evaluation Clinics for birth defects and arthritis. Assistance to polio victims will be continued.

The National Foundation's experience with polio treatment and rehabilitation centers as well as pilot projects conducted in birth defects and arthritis has proved the value of bringing together teams of experts to deal with medical, economic and social problems of chronically disabled patients and their families.

Under the newly expanded program, National Foundation chapters will finance Special

March of Dimes-supported Special Treatment and Clinical Study Centers offering comprehensive care to victims of birth defects, arthritis and polio are expanding throughout U. S.

Treatment Centers at major hospitals in several large cities. These will operate full time and provide treatment for both in- and outpatients through teams of specialists in the medical and allied professions.

For areas isolated from large medical centers, chapters will develop birth defects and arthritis Evaluation Clinics to offer outpatient care only, through periodic clinics with visiting medical specialists.

Cases that require more extensive care or hospitalization may be referred through Evaluation Clinics to Special Treatment Centers.

On the national level, March of Dimes funds will continue to support and expand Clinical Study Centers which provide exemplary total care for birth defects, arthritis and polio victims and also conduct research in those diseases.

As the number of centers of all three types increases, there will be an increase in knowledge and improvement of treatment facilities and techniques to bring closer to reality the control of chronic crippling diseases.

In conducting its vastly expanded patient aid program, The National Foundation will emphasize aid in areas of unmet needs. It will not duplicate assistance already being provided by other agencies.

Troop 248 Visits Jack Tar Hotel

Brownie Scout Troop No. 248 visited the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco on Dec. 18. William Pope, employed by the hotel and father of Brownie Paula Pope, arranged the interesting trip for the troop.

Mrs. Patricia Bonser, assistant manager in charge of relations, personally escorted the girls through the beautiful hotel. They saw many features the average traveler does not see and all the girls were very impressed with the fabulous international suites.

The Brownies who enjoyed the gracious hospitality of the Jack Tar Hotel were Kathy Benard, Bonnie Baumhoffer, Lily Cortes, Christine Foreman, Kathy Kazas, Julie Daly, Valerie Sopher, Paula Pope and Carol Stein. Mr. and Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Daly and Mrs. Baumhoffer accompanied the girls.

On Dec. 13, the Brownie troop had its Christmas party. Each girl made a surprise ball made of yarn with a small gift in the middle. These were sent to Algerian refugee children in North Africa.

Harold was graduated from the University of the Pacific last year and is doing graduate work at San Jose State College.

Add On Time To Get More Vets Benefits

Some veterans, and widows of some deceased veterans, who have not been eligible for Federal benefits because of insufficient active military service, may now become eligible by adding to the veteran's active period the certified time it took to proceed directly home after separation from service, Glenn Corbett, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in San Francisco, announced this week.

Corbett explained that all veterans discharged or released after Dec. 31, 1956, have already been credited with this travel time. A law passed last summer extended this provision to all other veterans.

The pension claims of some 2,500 veterans and a number of widows have been disallowed by the VA because the veterans had less than 90 days of service. By adding the travel time as certified by the veteran's service department, some of these "veterans" will now have the 90 days of service needed to qualify.

The new law is particularly important to Spanish-American veterans, who qualify for a special lower-rate pension if they have at least 70 days of active service. The homeward travel of those who were previously ineligible may give them the necessary 70 days to meet the service requirement. Others who are receiving the lower-rate pension may have their service period increased to 90 days and qualify for the regular service pension at the higher rate.

The VA can identify and is reviewing all 70-day cases which may become eligible for the regular service pension.

But Spanish-American War veterans who had less than 70 days of service are not known to the VA. Neither are the widows of Spanish-American War veterans who previously had less than 90 days of service. Any of these who think that the addition of the travel time from the place of discharge to the veteran's home would make them eligible for a pension, should contact the nearest VA regional office.

Carden-Hoppe Vows Exchanged

Linda Kristina Carden and Peter Hoppe celebrated the holiday season by being united in marriage the day before New Year's in front of the Christ-mas decorated altar at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. William C. McGuire, who has been a family friend for many years and had originally baptized the bride.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kenneth Carden of Westlake. She received her education at parochial schools in San Francisco and at Santa Cruz High School. Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willy Hoppe of Hanover, Germany. He has lived in this country for several years and served in the United States Air Force. He is connected with the Bank of America as an electronic technician.

Wedding services were very simple and attended only by the immediate family and very close friends.

The bride wore a short white brocade sheath under a matching brocade coat, and a white pillbox satin hat with veil. Her flowers were white orchids and carnations. A small reception was held afterward at the Red Chimney in Stonestown before the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Carmel and Monterey.

They have taken a lease in the Country Club Apartments in Westlake.

Anyone desiring to contribute to the Support of the Family Service Agency through the Family Fashion Fair is invited to contact either Mrs. Whitehead or Mrs. Bolin.

GADGETS AND GOO

It takes all sorts of gadgets and goo to get together the modern motor car, and buyers for the automotive manufacturers points out the National Automobile Club, find themselves making out some strangely diversified lists.

Just recently, buyers for one manufacturer took list in hand and went out to examine and purchase some loose-leaf binders, a cement mixer, drugs, a fire engine, blackboards, mops, X-ray film, a locomotive and all its tracks, teletype forms, ladders, bicarbonate of soda, rubber gloves, and some muslin, both plain and striped.

These, it seems, had to be bought just to keep the cars rolling.

Police Catch Beer Can Thief

Daly City and Broadmoor police arrested a Colma plumber Dec. 28 on charges of stealing $350 worth of quarters and dimes from a "beer can bank" at the Atello Pesino residence, 68 Ocean avenue.

Investigation showed that William Albert Fielding, 40, of 1775 Sweetwood drive, Colma, had pawned numerous articles in San Francisco pawn shops, many of them under aliases.

Fielding was booked by Broadmoor police for burglary. He was arrested by Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage, Daly City police lieutenant Richard Hansen and Investigator Frank Murray.

Officers indicated Fielding had asked a waitress at Sanford's Restaurant to count and roll approximately $97 in dimes, produced within a quarter beer can bank. This matched with the Pesino house burglary.

Fielding admitted he entered the house at 68 Ocean Grove on two occasions, stole the can of dimes, estimated at $100, and 25 rolls of quarters in the amount of $250 from a bureau drawer in the bedroom, police reported. He also admitted to one burglary in South San Francisco, police said.

Citizens For HS Tax Report On Progress

The Citizens Tax Committee of the Jefferson High School District, organized in support of the high school tax campaign, met Jan. 4 for a preliminary report on the progress of the tax measure.

Peter Markovich, head of the finance committee, announced that donations of $1,500 have been received for campaign expenditures. This amounts to approximately three-fifths of the goal of the campaign.

Speaker's committee chairman Robert Smice, reported that 100 letters were put in the mail before the holidays requesting speakers on behalf of the measure.

Mrs. Elsie Gibson, chairman of the publicity and advertising committee, reported on the progress of her committee, and indicated that postcards will be sent to all registered voters in the district just prior to the election on Feb. 6.

Superintendent Edward Morgan indicated that it was still too early in the game to tell exactly how things were going.

"In an election of this nature, the big task is to get all the information in the hands of the voters," he said.

"We want everybody to know that this is the first increase we've had since 1947, and at that time we had only 778 youngsters in the district. If this measure fails we will have to cut the budget for next year by $712,000, 25 per cent of the total, and with an increase of 800 students next year alone, this would make it very difficult to operate."

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By Jim Grealish

Jan. 14 at 1 p. m. is the date and time of the San Francisco finals of the Bowlers Victory Legion Tournament. This annual tournament, sponsored by the San Francisco Women's Bowling Association, is held for the sole purpose of raising funds to purchase equipment for Veterans Hospitals. Westlake bowler Jerry Johnson, vice president of the San Francisco Women's Bowling Association, is chairman of the finals and promises a very impressive program for spectators as well as bowlers.

Carl Steigerwald continues to improve—this time taking high series honors for the week with a 650 total on games of 265-216-169. Close behind Carl, with a 641 total, was Ed Gregoire in the Lake Merced Handicap League. Ed had games of 171-201-269.

The annual Bowling Proprietors Association of America team handicap tournament is once again in progress. In this tournament, which netted Westlake bowlers over $2,000 last year, almost 1,500 Westlakers have signed to once again participate. With an entry fee of only $3 per man, many bowlers are forming teams to shoot on weekends before the closing date of eliminations, March 4.

The Northgate Mixed Fives League uncovered a new high roller last week as Larry Skanderson shot games of 224-197 and 201 for a 622 total. Isabel McPherson upheld the honor of the fairer sex in the league with a 182 game and 491 series.

Martha Lauer, San Francisco Women's Bowling Association

Vi Saraceno, of the Morning Glory League, earned her 200 pin last Wednesday morning with her 214 game and 541 series.

Powder Puff results in the end of December placed Bonnie Birkett and Emily Drago in the No. 1 and No. 2 spots with 524 and 521, respectively.

The Handicap Division was led by Lora Parker with 430-158-588, while second award went to Bea Durand with 447-124-571.

The next Powder Puff Derby will be held Monday, Jan. 22, at 1:15 p. m.

Ted Hendrickson, who is now in Miami representing the San Francisco area in the All-Star tournament, had a good warm-up session in the Westlake Classic last Thursday night, shooting 208-178-221 for a 607 total.

Sandi Amstutz was a double leader last week, leading the High Rollers Mixed Fives with 486 and the Tuesday Ladies Handicap with 529.

The latest innovation at Westlake is Variety Night every Sunday at 10 p. m. A change in the format of the Moonlight Scotch Doubles has added to the interest in this weekly event which is followed by a buffet.

Under the new plan, the first game is a 3-6-9 feature in which the team automatically receives a strike in the third, sixth and ninth frames. The second game is "no-tap" in which the team receives a strike each time nine pins are knocked down with the first ball. The third game is the conventional Scotch Doubles pattern. The cost, including the buffet, remains the same. $3 per couple.

A New Garden For The New Year

If your garden needs a new look, there's no time like the present to administer it. The fact that it's a brand new year in itself should be excuse enough to make the change.

And don't be overly cautious. If a major change is called for, roll up your sleeves and have at it. Redesigning the garden does just as much to lift the spirits as redecorating your home.

The foundation planting — that strip of plant material which ties your house to your garden — is one of the likeliest candidates for improvement. Many foundation plantings you see are overgrown, shapeless masses of greenery. Instead of suggesting an easy transition from the abrupt lines of architecture to the contours of your landscape, such foundation planting appear as a formidable barrier between the two.

There is usually no course left when the foundation is overgrown but to uproot the old and plant anew. Shrubs that are so completely outsize can ever be pruned back to your complete satisfaction. If you think some might be saved, however, have a local member of the California Association of Nurserymen drop by and give you his opinion.

In most cases, it is unlikely that any professional know how has gone into the designing of the landscape. And contrary to popular opinion, the smaller the garden, the more important the design, so don't hesitate to seek help before you replant.

Easy access to the garden is of the utmost importance and should be considered in your planning. A pleasantly planted parking strip at the front of your home and an entrance that looks inviting are two more facets of the landscape which, like the foundation planting, are apt to need renewal. It's not important that they all be started now, but you do have the excuse and, no doubt, more time than you will later on. So why wait?

Certainly a worthy addition to KTVU's schedule is the delightful pre-school program "Romper Room" which is telecast daily at 11 a.m. How welcome to mothers is a program that instructs their little tots while they go about their household tasks uninterrupted. Unfortunately there are few pre-school programs scheduled at a convenient daytime hour. We feel the stations are missing a real bet because they have a tremendous potential audience for such shows during the daytime; particularly during morning hours.

Promising to be one of the new year's most memorable and exciting programs is the "live" coverage of the USA's man-in-orbit space this month. All three networks are making extensive preparations with plans including coverage before launch time.

Exciting news too, from ABC-KGO-TV, is that plans are going ahead for the "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show" a Monday through Friday musical-variety program which will debut on April 2 at 11 a.m. and will originate (hurray!) in San Francisco.

KQED promises in the new year to bring you "many hours of stimulating, thought-provoking, educational and cultural viewing during 1962." A few highlights include "Opera and Art," "Mirror of Men," "The Boston Symphony Orchestra," "KQED Drama Festival," "Heritage" and the "British Film Festival."

For many weeks the cubs had been working toward this night, making all the effective ornaments and decorations which they used to decorate the Christmas tree that evening. Toys were also collected for children at the Sonoma State Hospital.

FUEL CONSUMPTION

Motor fuel consumption is expected to total 64.9 billion gallons in the United States in 1961, reports the National Automobile Club. This represents a gain of 2.6 per cent over 1960.

There's down-to-earth enjoyment and wholesome rewards in gardening. But like everything else, there are essential ingredients for success—Mother Nature's cooperation, good soil, dedication, and, last but not least, good tools.

Quality tools should be sought because they will do more for your personal satisfaction than merely help capture horticultural honors. Implements made with stainless steel—the practically indestructible metal—will lighten your garden-grooming efforts considerably. They require little, if any, care and should last a lifetime.

Besides being exceptionally strong and, therefore, retaining their true shape, stainless steel garden tools—like those made by The Voss Company, New Haven, Conn.—stay sharp even after frequent use. Left out overnight, or unprotected through the long winter, you'll always find the tools as bright, as keen of edge, and as serviceable as the last time you handled them—thanks to the stainless steel's built-in rust resistance. What more could one ask of garden tools, than that they be built for a lifetime of use and be able to take infinite abuse?

That said sale will be closed and consummated and the agreed purchase price and consideration of said sale will be paid on the above date and hour at the office of BAY COUNTIES TITLE GUARANTEE COMPANY, located at 135 Hayes Street, in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California.

TV and Radio

By MONA BAKER

With the coming of the new year there's a new look to the television schedules. In fact, the stations seem to be playing a game of musical chairs—programs have switched days and times, new programs have appeared, others have been dropped.

Gone from ABC-KGO-TV, is the "Steve Allen Show" which we feel is a definite loss to the network. Also removed from TV schedules is "Number Please" and "The Roaring 20s" which are just as well removed.

Leaving KPIX's schedule in February (again we feel it is a definite loss) is "PM WEST" which began over Channel 5 with such high hopes and great promise. When the show began we felt it was in a particularly difficult situation because of the late hour. We still feel quite strongly that a locally produced network show originating in San Francisco has great potential and we do hope that Westinghouse will give further consideration to their tentative plans to produce a daytime show originating from San Francisco in the spring.

Certainly a worthy addition to KTVU's schedule is the delightful pre-school program "Romper Room" which is telecast daily at 11 a.m. How welcome to mothers is a program that instructs their little tots while they go about their household tasks uninterrupted. Something For Everyone

Kennedy as its "man of the year." There follow seven pages of discussion of the first year of the Kennedy administration and what is ahead for him and for us.

Harpers has an article about Kennedy and some of his predecessors that tells what we many expect from the White House. It is entitled "The Cult of Personality Comes to the White House."

I think these articles and others in periodicals that come into the Daly City Public Library give one a valuable insight into the immediate future of our country and our world. Come read them.

Conifers are shrubs and trees of a hundred uses in the garden. Some of them hug the ground and others touch the sky, while in between are a dozen more sizes and shapes to fit every garden.

We can't plant them all, but from the many varieties available, we can find several for use in the landscape large or small. It will surprise many of you to learn how many different conifers are offered by members of the California Association of Nurserymen.

The prostrate Junipers, for instance, are familiar to most home gardeners, but how many know that there are several of these squat little evergreens available. If you stop to look, you will see the subtle differences. Tamarix Juniper is the one we all take for granted, but White's Silver King Juniper and the San Jose Spreading Juniper are only two of several other good ones. Each has its own special charm.

You could write a book on the Junipers alone, and certainly the variety to be found in nurseries would seem to warrant one. Outside the prostrate members of the family are an endless array of others. We find the Armstrong Juniper and the Pfizer Juniper, both semi erect or semi spreading, depending on how you treat them with the shears. And there are many others of more columnar and erect shape.

Conifers are favorites in foundation plantings and many of the junipers mentioned above serve admirably here. The pyramidal Arbovitae are also used in foundations where space isn't cramped, and Mugho Pine is choice. Neither fills the role on its own as do the Junipers, but either fits in well with other planting.

You see conifers used as hedges, also, mostly because they are so hardy, require very little care and serve so well.

The Pines are suited even to small gardens, where their ultimate size can be minimized by pruning the lower branches up to reveal a stately trunk. Thinning the branches topside also opens the tree up, makes it more graceful in limited quarters. Monterey Pine is the most common garden showpiece, but many others are available. You can and should try them in containers, too, where restricted root growth keeps them compact.

AREA LIONESSES PLAN NEXT MEET

The recent meeting of the Daly City-Colma Lioness Club was a Christmas party at Val's Redwood Room. Erma Westoby and Mary Wilson were co-hostesses and planned a very pleasant evening. There also was an exchange of Christmas gifts.

The next dinner meeting of the Lionesses will be the fourth annual installation of new officers, to be held on Thursday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p. m. at the L. & L. Castle Lane Bowl in the banquet room, 1750 Geneva Avenue, San Francisco.

Pasadena Vocal Trio To Visit Broadmoor

Sunday evening, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p. m., the Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene, Washington street and Edgewood avenue, Colma, will be host to representatives from Pasadena College, located in Pasadena, Calif. The group will be composed of a vocal trio called the "Tempos" and their pianist, with Dr. James D. Hamilton as speaker. The trio includes Jean Faus of San Luis Obispo, Kay Block, Granada Hills, and Darlene Cornelli of Denver, Colo., with pianist Mary Partain of Artesia, Calif.

The trio will sing and give personal words of their own. Dr. James Hamilton will present the college, its work and needs. Dr. Hamilton has recently come to Pasadena College as college chaplain and associate professor of religion. He is a graduate of Fort Hays (Kansas) State College, Bethany Nazarene College, Western State College of Colorado, and the University of Denver, where he received his Ed.D.

All young people looking toward college, and parents of youths are cordially invited to attend this service to learn about Pasadena College. The college is a four year liberal arts college with majors in numerous fields, including education. With the satisfactory completion of the prescribed courses the student may receive a California Public School teaching credential. Other fields of study prepare the student for life and service, too, such as science and religion.

Keep It Simple When Planting On Small Lots

Landscape might not agree on all aspects of their trade, but there's one fundamental which none will argue about: On the small lot you can't plant everything. Which is just another way of saying, "keep it simple."

This sounds all too obvious, but often as not, the home gardener succumbs to temptation and plants anything that comes to mind. His garden becomes not only overcrowded in short time, but a hedgehog. To steal a phrase from the art world, such gardens are just "too busy."

Azaleas Give Lots Of Color

By careful selection and a bit of luck, the gardener can have color from azaleas for over half the year. This may seem incredible to those whose experience with this happy family of shrubs is limited, but it's the truth and we have the California Association of Nurserymen's word for it.

Indicative of the azaleas willingness to perform under California growing conditions is the fact that many of the beautiful Belgian indicas varieties show color as early as September or October in some areas. They reach full bloom before Christmas and then taper off into the new year. As these early birds begin to fade, other Belgian indicas take over, to be joined in short order by the magnificent Rutherfordian hybrids, then the Kurume varieties, then the southern indicas. And we're not through yet. Before the list of evergreen varieties has faded out, the deciduous mollis hybrids break their winter's rest with a brilliant burst of color. By this time it's nearly May, or will be when the last blooms fall.

Let's you still belong to that diminishing band who think of azaleas as too tender or delicate for normal garden conditions, let's set the record straight. They may be favorites of the florist trade, but that is a tribute to their beauty and not an indication that they have to be grown under controlled growing conditions to thrive. Azaleas are important items in the general nursery trade and will thrive in most areas of the state.

Tenth Anniversary Of Westlake PTA Soon

The tenth anniversary of the Westlake PTA is being celebrated this year. A gala Founder's day program will be held on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 1:30 p. m. All past members and officers are cordially invited to be present.

Mrs. John Ednoff, president, has named Mrs. Chadwick Reade as chairman of this event.

An acre of land was first defined as the area a yoke of oxen could plow in a day.

Program Set For Failing SSF Students

A new program designed to provide help for students who are failing 50% or more of their classes at South San Francisco High School will come into effect January 10. Until the end of the fall semester the program will deal exclusively with freshmen, however, it will be made available to the other grade levels after the close of the fall semester.

The program consists basically of special guidance and an after school make-up class to be taught by Larry Longwell, and Robert Howe, The class, which will be held every day from 2:30-3:20, is intended not for detention, but to help the student see what he is doing wrong and how he can help himself. Approximately 150 out of 1700 students fall into this category—failing three or more classes. Most of these students have average intelligence or better and should be doing much better work.

In the after school make-up class among topics to be stressed are: Why they take the basic subjects in school, graduation requirements, what happens if they fail required and non-required subjects. There will be an emphasis on study in weak subjects which will consist of an organized bulk of study time in which the atmosphere is conducive to concentration and work. One hour a week will be devoted to improvement of work habits and study skills which will include: Organizing for study, how to do well on tests, how to take notes, and other study and work skills.

According to Longwell, one of the main basic weaknesses is reading. The program compensates for this by offering time in studying remedial reading. He added that the majority of the students do not resent the after school period as was anticipated.

Both Longwell and Howe are looking to success of the program. Longwell has said: "We expect most students who take the class to show significant improvement in regular classes and in their attitude towards education."

Students must make progress however, because if their grades don't pick up, they will have to attend summer school and pass, or be suspended for the 18 weeks of the fall semester next year.

Daly City Boy Alerts Westlake Family To Save Burning Home

A Daly City boy last week saved a Westlake family from possible disaster when he awakened them from a deep sleep to tell them their house was on fire.

Randy Starbo, 13, 141 Avalon drive, was on his early morning paper route when he thought he saw a light burning in the home of Allen Foster, 88 Skyline drive.

"But then it flamed up higher," Randy said, "and I could see the living room was filled with smoke."

So he pounded and pounded on the front door a full five minutes before he could arouse Foster, 37, manager of the Petri Plaza market; his wife, Gloria, 36, and son, Robert, 15. The fire had started when

Mrs. Foster forgot to blow out a Christmas decoration on the coffee table. The house was damaged by smoke, but the fire was extinguished before the firemen arrived.

"The boy certainly should be commended," said Mrs. Foster. "We owe him quite a bit. That's as close as I ever want to come to death."

Starbo is one of five children. His father is a records clerk at the Presidio.

Fronce-Gillette Set Engagement Over Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Fronce of South San Francisco announced on Jan. 3 the engagement of their daughter, Sherry Lee, to Wayne Alden Gillette, son of Mrs. Jean Robinson of South San Francisco.

Both were graduated from South San Francisco High School. The future bride is currently working as a secretary for Mallory Distributors in San Francisco. The future bridegroom is attending City College of San Francisco, majoring in hotel management.

Date for the wedding has not yet been set.

Engaged

The engagement of Nancy Whittaker, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Norman Whittaker of Westlake, to Robert Curtis has been announced at a party given at the Whittaker residence in Daly City.

The future bride is a graduate of Balboa High School and attended Biola College of Los Angeles for three years. She is now attending San Francisco State College and upon graduation in June will begin work on her teacher's credential in art.

Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Curtis of Bakersfield, has attended Biola College for one year and is presently an English major at City College of San Francisco. He is employed by the Bank of America.

The couple plan a late August wedding.

Lagomarsino Says Council 'Indifferent'

The following statement was made by Rico Lagomarsino on his side of the story in the "fire wall" hassle with the city council.

"The outcome of the meeting of Jan. 4 was that if I could show where glass would constitute a one hour fire wall they would allow me to use same."

"But the city council changed its original story to this effect: I would be permitted to use wire glass providing the city technicians approved it. This left me in a position that those who had made the accusations become the judges in our dispute."

"I offered to arbitrate the difference which was not given any consideration by the city council."

Indifferent

"During my various discussions, Paul Huff, city attorney, quoted law, but when asked to show this in the code he told me that it was up to me to submit proof to the contrary."

"The city council has been indifferent to anything I said, and all decisions were made by department heads."

"During the various conversations and evidence that I have seen, it is very obvious that many misstatements have been made, such as a letter from fire inspector Specht, who quoted to the effect that he had spoken to us regarding the building and building violations and recommendations he had made to us to minimize costs in building. This is a complete falsehood." He has never discussed any part of this building with Rico or William Lagomarsino or Carl Yuber, our superintendent.

Made A Mistake

"I agreed that we made a mistake in not showing these windows in the plan at the time the building permit was obtained."

Picnics On Board!

America has a new love and boating is it. Many... er meal will be enjoyed on the waters and even when there are cooking facilities aboard, it is best to prepare as much food as possible at home to allow maximum fun time.

A ham baked ahead can be sliced as needed. Another popular and portable food is potato salad. If no refrigeration is available, keep highly perishable foods well chilled in ice chests or insulated bags and containers. Thirst-quenching beer and ale can be kept cold in simple tubs or buckets filled with ice, especially if chilled beforehand. When picnicking on board, observe the same rules of neatness as in a public park. Keep rubbish together for proper disposal later.

Beer-Glazed Ham

1 1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup beer or ale

Mix together brown sugar and mustard; stir to a paste. Gradually add beer, stirring until blended. Use as a basting sauce for ham, brushing frequently with the mixture. Yield: Enough for 6 to 8 pound ham.

Potato Salad

3 pounds potatoes (8 cups diced)
2 cups diced celery
1 small onion, chopped
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup mayonnaise

2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
1/2 cup beer or ale
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook potatoes in skins until tender. Peel and dice. Add celery and onion; sprinkle with salt. Blend together mayonnaise, mustard and Tabasco; gradually stir in beer. Add parsley. Add to potato mixture. Mix lightly with a fork being careful not to break potatoes. If desired, serve on greens or garnish with radish slices or tomato wedges. Yield: 8 servings.

ENERGY OUTPUT

The weekly energy output of petroleum in the United States has been estimated to exceed 40 hours' work of 22 billion people. That, according to the National Automobile Club, is more than ten times the total population of the world.

New Orleans was founded in 1718 by a French governor of Louisiana, Jean Baptiste Le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville.

Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, was the first man to reach the South Pole on December 16, 1911.

Vista Mar Kids Explore Earth In Science Work

Vista Mar's student body, teachers and children alike, returned to their classrooms on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

In Mrs. Lanthier's fourth and fifth grade, work is resuming on a science unit that has generated much enthusiasm. It is called, "Exploring Inside the Earth."

Learning that magma pushing up against the earth's crust forms mountains and sometimes volcanoes, gave these students the concept of an ever changing earth.

Martin Hecht, who has done research on the subject, is working with a group in building a model of a volcano. Peter Schmale has contributed rocks from his family's collection to illustrate various forms of igneous rocks that were once hot molten magma that cooled and hardened. Written and oral reports and illustrations done by the children in this area show their interest as well as concepts gained by exploration of the subject.

In kindergarten classes, "winter activities" are units of interest related to experience children are having over weekends and enjoyed during the holiday season.

Human relations as they relate to the family and provide needed services are areas of interest and concern to first graders. This will provide for developing concepts of understanding and accepting people.

Second grade groups are concerned themselves with learning about community services—water, electricity, gas—while the second-third grade combination is doing research in the field of communications—telephone, newspaper, television, etc.

Third graders will shortly begin a study of their county and surrounding area, while the other third grade will begin their intensive study of Pueblo Indians.

Units in the area of science are being developed at the fourth grade level, while a study of the early pioneers and sections of the United States as it relates to human geographical factors will be activities of fifth graders.

Cub Pack 62 Holds Meet

Cub Pack 62 held its first meeting of the new year on January 5, presided over by Cubmaster Ray Garcia.

Mr. Hyna, former Scoutmaster, gave instructions to the Cubs on proper folding of their neckerchiefs.

Mr. Garcia announced the Pinewood Derby would be held on January 27 at George Washington School. The Pack is hoping for a 100 per cent turnout for this exciting event.

Awards were presented to the following boys: wolf badge, Michael Person, Denner, John Stura, assistant denner; Stephen Garcia, recruiter badge; John Abigana, two year pin; Donald Heisch, Cable Cars were given to all new Cubs.

Identification bracelets were presented to the following Boy Scouts who are active as Den Chiefs: Bill Heisch, Bob Abigana, and Allan White.

One of the guests for the evening was Mrs. A. Parodi, president of the Crocker-Pershing PTA. She thanked the Cubs for their participation in the flag ceremonies at PTA meetings.

Four new Cubs were welcomed into the pack by assistant cubmaster Walter Hansen; David Hathaway, William McCoy, Harvey Sandoval, and Daniel Stein.

A new treasurer, Mr. Stein, and new den mother, Mrs. Bradley, were welcomed into the Pack, also.

Mr. Garcia announced that the activity for the month of December, attending the Coronet to see "King of Kings" was enjoyed by everyone.

An educational question and answer period was held while an exciting movie, on sky diving, was shown. After the film was shown, the Cubs were allowed to inspect the equipment used by the Sky Divers.

For perfect Cub and parent attendance, Den 1 received the attendance cup for the month. Ice cream was served at the close of the meeting.

Forty-Nine Lovely Lasses Work To Be Granted A Degree In Beauty

By JIM GOLDSBOROUGH

At the top of the hill in Daly City, where the streets of San Jose and Mission come together, a retired Air Force master sergeant, who once listened to his wife, is doing a booming business.

The enterprise that is thriving is the Hilltop Beauty School. The product that sells is beauty.

Owners Lloyd H. and Emily Chamberlain opened Hilltop on March 28, 1961. Since then they have taken this former market and converted it into a bright, bustling tonsorial academy where at present 49 girls are enrolled and on their way toward a State license in hairdressing and cosmetology.

As the story goes (curtain up, lights dim), one day in Sacramento, M. Sgt. Lloyd, for lack of else to do, was brushing his wife's hair. He was about to retire with 20 years with the Air Force, and the subject had turned to "what next?"

"Lloyd," said Emily, "you've got it, kid."

"Got what?" said Lloyd.

"The feel. You've got the feel for hairdressing."

(Lights fade, curtain down.)

So that's where it all started, and it is to Hilltop that it has come.

The State law requires that to be licensed as a hairdresser and cosmetologist, 1600 hours of instruction must be completed. Instruction includes classes in hairstyling, manicuring and cosmetology.

"Dyeing CAN be harmful. A skin test should always be taken because of the possibility of an allergy."

"If dyeing is done correctly, any color change can be made. Even jet black to blonde."

"The face muscles can be strengthened to firm sagging muscles. This is done by electrical current."

"Falling hair that is caused by infectious dandruff can be stopped with electrical treatments."

"Manicuring should be done once each week for proper care. After all, women's nails are supposed to be beautiful, aren't they?"

After the Chamberlains got discharged, they went to Hollywood. There Lloyd took his teacher's training at the Hollywood Beauty College. Miss Lee taught there.

Always keeping in mind the idea of their own beauty school, they returned to San Francisco (Miss Lee was born here and went to the High School of Commerce) to look around.

"We drove out here one day and I saw that old building full of Christmas trees and all I saw was students."

That "old building" would be the present school at 6317 Mission. It was about Christmas of 1960 when they came up here, and at that time the old Hilltop Market building was a decrepit old structure that was being used to house Christmas trees.

"It took a lot of work to get THIS place ready," said Miss Lee. "We couldn't open until the end of March. We laid all the tile ourselves, and a friend did all the sheet rock work."

At present the school has 49 young lasses working for their diplomas. The first graduates will graduate this February. Three in number, the harbingers will be Marge Cambra, Maureen Wickersham and Mickey Beccara.

Cosmetology is the study of the skin, its diseases, and more generally the anatomy of the head. This study enables the beauty operator to more effectively treat the hair, and style the coiffure to the shape of the head.

On the subject of hair styling, Emily (Miss Lee, professionally), maintains that hair is going into the shorter, more casual look.

"We're leaving the bouffant," said she. "Those big haircuts are too difficult to care for. The soft, casual look is in."

What about the pixie, we asked.

"The pixie is still popular among the school kids, but with all ages the flip is probably more popular. Also the airlift."

The airlift is a rather clever name for a gravity defying arrangement that lifts into the air.

As we understand it, the airlift differs from the bouffant in that it lifts into the air from the other side.

SPORTS

The Sport Scene

By JIM GOLDSBOROUGH

Ah, the infinite delight and mystery of the sports world! Today, with no effort to sort the meaningful from the meaningless (or the not unmeaningless, if you like triple negatives), I report ALL that comes across one's desk during an average week's search for something important.

From the resourceful Resources Agency of the State of California comes the following information:

- The wild pig limit in Monterey County is one pig per person.
- Band-tailed pigeon season ends January 14 (except in downtown San Francisco, where bounties are being offered).
- There is no limit on the amount of crows you may bag. Ravens, however, are fully protected and may not be taken at any time (EVEN, I might add, if one happens to be knocking at your chamber door).
- Herbivorous, aquatic, viviparous marsupials such as the dugong and the manatee are fully protected in California waters.

All the sports information all the time. Here!

An indication that our own Daly City Recreation Department isn't exactly colorless comes from a peek at their calendar:

Adult hula—weekly, 7-10 p.m.
Rockhounds—1st, 3rd Mondays, 7:30-9:30.
Tailoring class—weekly, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.
Millinery making—weekly, 1-3 p.m.
Hop, Skip and Jump Club—weekly, 11:30-12:30.

And then there's the greatest sports circus in the world, the Harlem Globetrotters, who move into the Cow Palace on Friday, Jan. 12. In this year's cast are such staid performers as "Yo-Yo" Simmons, the dribbling wizard (perhaps a good anti-histamine would help). He will be assisted in his dribblings by barking Tex Harrison, big Willie Davis, and peerless pantomimist Meadowlark Lemon.

In the other rings will be Kimi Yokoi, bicycle ballerina; Bob Foy, unicyclist; Mike Lanney, acrobat; the Perry Kids, trapeze artists; Guy Allen, batonist; and Maz Patkin, baseball clown. Master of ceremonies will be the Cubs' Ernie Banks.

Things start out there at 8 p.m., and I, for one, wouldn't miss it.

While on the subject of the round ball, San Francisco's Saints will be here at Westmoor High on the 23rd conducting a basketball clinic and a scrimmage. About six of the Saints live in Daly City, and our recreation department men, Chuck Vincent and Ed Tomasello, who never miss ANYTHING, arranged this appearance. The thing's open to all kids—in fact anybody who's interested in basketball. Starts at 7:30.

And did you know that as a result of the loss in the recent tax election in Hayward, that the district has decreed that all sports played by the kids will have to pay their way. That means pay for everything: uniforms, balls, bats, referees, transportation . . . EVERYTHING!

This could be disastrous for the smaller sports. Usually in high school circles you find the administration absolutely gleeful if even the football games earn enough to pay the referees.

It looks like the athletic program over there is going to be a little limited this year. And we wouldn't want that to happen here, would we?

Because of this zoology kick, I've got to tell this story, which, incidentally, was again inspired by our Resources Department. They sent a little item reminding that the only rabbits that are still fair game are jackrabbits. So the story:

It seems that this year's Mr. Halfback, James Saxton from University of Texas, works out by chasing rabbits, catching them, and playing with them.

When he told one of his friends about this, the friend aired a little disbelief.

"I can't run faster than ALL of them," said the modest Saxton, "so I just stay with them. After a while they just poop out and I just run up to where they are, lying on their sides huffing and puffing, and pick them up."

Ah, those Texans. They never let you down, do they?

Rams Take First Two: Tie For 1st

The Westmoor Rams, one of the pre-season favorites to win the Peninsula League title, started off in rousing fashion by knocking over Mills and Hillsdale in the first two games of the season.

In the Mills game, the Rams achieved victory, 52-41, despite hitting only 16 out of 49 from the field.

Mills moved out to a 5-2 lead in the first five minutes of the game as Dick South hit two long set shots from the same spot on the left side. During this period, the Rams missed all nine of the shots they tried.

Westmoor's shooting improved somewhat during the remainder of the first period, and Steve Payette's set shot at the buzzer put Westmoor ahead, 8-7, a lead they never relinquished. The Rams increased the lead to 17-7 at the start of the second period, but Mills cut the lead to 18-15 before the intermission.

The two teams traded buckets throughout the third period. By the end of the period, Westmoor had increased its margin to 30-26. Three times Mills got within one point of the Rams, but the Rams came back with a bucket to keep their lead.

Lucke started the final period with a free throw and Daniels hit a jump shot from the side. From then on out, Mills was forced to foul to get the ball and Westmoor took advantage of it by dropping 11 straight free throws in the final six minutes of the game.

Rams Vs. Knights
Against Hillsdale, with 17 seconds left in the game, Westmoor's Gary Allard picked up a loose ball and laid one in off the board in a fitting climax to a most exciting game last Friday.

The game was exceedingly close during the first three periods although Hillsdale led most of the way. The first period score favored the Knights, 7-5. At half-time the Rams left the court trailing, 14-12. Just when Hillsdale seemed ready to pull away, Ted Tobby came in and hit two quick buckets for the Rams to cut Hillsdale's lead to 20-18 at the end of the third period.

Soon the Rams started their move to victory. With the score 27-20 in Hillsdale's favor, Harry Brown cashed a free throw. Brown then hit a 20 foot set shot and Mike Daniels got a layup to cut the Knight's lead to two. Don Leydig got two of them back as he got behind the Rams' full-court press for a layup. Allard grabbed a rebound and laid it in to make the score, 27-29.

Leydig fouled Allard, whose free throw was off, but the rebound came to Brown who made a new game of it with an 18-foot jump shot. With 52 seconds left, Stoscher fouled Allard, who put the Ram ahead, 30 to 29.

Only 36 seconds were left when Hillsdale's Brigham scored a short jumper to set the stage for Allard's climactic bucket.

With two seconds left, Lucke pulled off the rebound on Hillsdale's last gasp shot. Although tied up by Stoscher, Jim topped the ball to the side of the court as the final buzzer sounded.

RECREATION LEAGUES START FIRST GAMES HIGH SCORING

The Daly City Department of Recreation's 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grade basketball leagues tipped off league play Saturday, January 6. Beginning of the leagues saw the end of the loose and relaxed play of the practice game season. The clubs tightened up their play and free use of the bench was curtailed in most cases.

5th Grade League
In the opening game the OLM Dons swatted the OLP Hornets 26-10. Arnie and Gafey shared the Dons' high point honors with eight each. The Pal Eagles pounced on the OLM Gaels 19-12. Phillips of the losers was high point man with six points. The Holy Angels Lions roared into the win column with a 20-8 victory over the newly organized PAL Deputies. Wayne Wallranta of the Lions tanked 10 points.

6th Grade League
Gerry Player's BYA Hawks chilled the BYA Hotshots 22-14. Steve Noffsinger was big man for the Hawks with 8 points. Teammate Paul Mann followed with 6. Steve Green proved to be the "eye" of the Hurricanes as his OLM Hurricanes whipped the BYA Little Giants 34-17. Green hit 14 big points. The PAL Bears went over the OLP Hilltoppers to the tune of 53-12. Bob Nolan of PAL collected 15 points while Pete Chervallera of PAL and Steve Gudelf of OLP shared 2nd honors with 10 each.

7th Grade League
Mike Miller "Golden Boy" of the sixth grade league last year led the PAL Tigers to a 26-13 win over Ben Franklin. Mike hit 14 points for the Tigers.

8th Grade League
Jim Cook of New Pisa put in the top performance this week. Jim accounted for 21 points as his strong club downed Ben Franklin 61-14. Cook's showing overshadowed teammate Joe Richmond's 14 point contribution. The Holy Angels Jets dropped out of the league this week due to lack of personnel. Therefore, the OLM Tankers picked up a forfeit this week. The return of Billy Hernan to the PAL Hawks line-up this week made the difference in their 28-20 victory over the BYA Darts. Hernan tallied 14 points. John Heick of the Darts hit nine. Jerry Benson and the rest of the PAL Pistons were really working this week. They pounded out a 64 to 22 win over the OLP Warriors in a real team effort. Benson hit 14. Claus 10, Wikerschiemer 10, Chalmers 8, Namanny 8, Blaney 6 and the rest of the club 2 each.

The J-shaped part bears most of the body weight and therefore must be made of the hardest steel. Tool steel, hardened and plated, is used for the part. The steel is so hard that the Medical Center's Biophysics Machine Shop ruined several drills machining the parts.

In developing the pilot model, project prosthetists sought the biggest man they could find for the new type of brace. They found a 6'4" polio victim on the UCLA Hospital's resident staff. They reasoned that if the part could stand the weight of his 250-plus pounds, it would pass any test. So far it has.

Since that time, several children from the Los Angeles Shriners Crippled Children Hospital have been fitted with the new brace, providing important data for follow-up research.

Jeff 1-1
Tigers 0-2

After a practice campaign notable for its lack of success, the Jefferson Indians got rolling last Friday by whipping Terra Nova's Tigers convincingly, 46-36.

Who knows, perhaps this one of those teams that just doesn't care about the exhibition tilts, and saves it all for the chips.

After opening the season last Wednesday with a narrow loss, 39-37, to highly regarded Capuchino, Jefferson took command of a close first-half game with Terra Nova and ran away during the last two periods.

And the Indians almost had the Cap game, too.

With Cap holding a narrow lead during the first three periods, Rich Reitz hit with a hook, 1:20 into the final period to give the Indians their first lead, 31-30.

The lead then jumped back and forth during the period until Ron Emilio of the Mustangs with three minutes to go and give Cap the lead, 39-37. The Indians got a couple more shots in, but couldn't sink them. Don Bowden almost tied it when he got off a 35 footer in the last second that went in, rimmed, and plopped out as the final buzzer sounded.

In the 130 action, 24 points by Mustang forward Dave Kaufman proved too much as the Indians went under, 40-28. Both teams were hurt by inaccuracy from the foul line, hitting on only 55 per cent of the free tosses.

Tiger Game

Against Terra Nova, the Indians got off to a 9-0 lead, lost the lead at the half, 20-19, then pulled away in the third quarter to win it, 46-36.

Mike Orlich was a happy man. "We'll hold our own as long as we hit," he said.

For the Tigers it was their second straight loss. Despite a 15 point performance by Manual Pick in the opener against South San Francisco, and a 16 point performance in this game, the Tigers have not managed to take one yet.

In this game, it was the third quarter that told the tale. Taking a one-point lead into the second half, the Tigers were snowed under, 13-5, in the third quarter by the accurate shooting of Rich Reitz and Don Bowden.

"We're improving," said Orlich. "With Reitz and Bowden carrying the load we can win some."
